Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Mr. Bosch explained the difference between filtration methods used in prior art of record and the instant invention. He said that the instant invention uses a 0.2 micron filter which prevents bacteria from going through. This, he said provides a sterile formulation. Ms. Simkin stated that the said "filtration method" combined with the specific corticosteroids such as beclomethasone dipropionate can make a sterile nanoparticulate composition. Examiners explained that in a composition claim, a method step is not given weight and that the composition needs to include its specific characteristics as well as ingredients. Suggestions were made to better distinguish the instant claims from prior art. It was also stated that the amended claims, drawn to a sterile composition need to be further searched and examined.
